

Warner Theatre Restoration

Torrington, Connecticut

Scope:

Area: 8,480 sf

Completion: November 2002

Cost: $6.5 million

This is an Art Deco Building, designed by Thomas W. Lamb in 1931. The restoration was intended to return the historical integrity of the theatre while adapting to current regulations and requirements. Sevigny/Architects transformed the façade and interior, introducing new furnishing and finishes that directly relate to the context of the original design.

Connecticut Real Estate Exchange
Blue Ribbon Award
For Outstanding Achievement 2003

AIA Connecticut Design Award
For Historic Preservation 2003

Renovations and Restoration

SEVIGNY
ARCHITECTS